The Association of Teacher Educators (ATE) was founded in 1920 and is the only national, individual membership organization devoted solely to the improvement of teacher education for both school and campus-based teacher educators. ATE members represent over 650 colleges and universities, 500 major school systems, and the majority of the state departments of education and the association represents its members' interests before governmental agencies and educational organizations. ATE's representational form of governance offers ATE members an unusually high level of opportunity for national leadership.
