

Meet ATE's 2025 Spring Semester Communications Intern

CAROLYN KERKOWSKI

Carolyn Kerkowski is a second-year Communication Design graduate student at Kutztown University and the graduate assistant in the Dean's Office of the College of Education, focusing on social media and content creation. She earned a BFA in Communication Design from Kutztown in 2023, specializing in brand identity, and her academic journey has equipped her with strong design principles that she applies in both professional and freelance projects. Her role has allowed her to collaborate with university and state teacher organizations, develop leadership initiatives, and engage audiences with creative communication strategies. With a deep connection to education through her family's teaching background, she is passionate about fostering meaningful connections that inspire and inform. Outside of work, Carolyn enjoys freelance design, reading, and spending time with her cat, Greta. She is excited to contribute to ATE's mission and develop impactful strategies that benefit the community and the field of education.
